

ROSE CARD-FAUX

Zanny's pretty sure she's not the kind of person who saves worlds, but she's absolutely going to try.

Zanny has just learned she belongs to a secret race of humans called Painters, who can manipulate matter with their minds. She's also learned that the future of the Painters—and maybe the entire world—depends on her becoming a super-powered, once-in-a-century hero, formidable enough to defeat a murderous cult leader named The Angel.

Zanny's pretty sure she's not the kind of person who saves worlds, but, with so much at stake, she's absolutely going to try.

To say that Cora was down on her luck would be the understatement of a lifetime.

Cora's life and business fell apart after her husband fled the country with most of her money. Now, she's laser-focused on rebuilding everything from the ground up, and getting into another relationship couldn't be further from her mind.

Then Cora runs into Noah, a hard-to-resist man from her past, and she has to decide if she can trust him—and herself—enough to let someone into her life again.

Rose Card-Faux is a writer, an award-winning filmmaker, and maker of other things. She grew up in a house full of books and with a mind full of stories. As a child, she often blurred the lines between stories and reality, weaving tales for her friends about goblins living under their houses or butterflies actually being fairies in disguise.

She currently lives with her husband and two adorable children in Las Vegas, where she still weaves tales full of magic. In her free time, Rose likes to sew her own clothes, study languages, play piano, eat delicious food, and laugh uproariously with friends.
